Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-9 and 25-29, drawn to devices, classified in class 435/174, for example.
- II. Claims 10-18, drawn to a method, classified in class 435/183, for example.
- III. Claims 19-24, drawn to methods, classified in class 526/318.2 for example.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the products of Invention I can be used in a materially different process, such as a drug delivery method.

Inventions I and III are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case, the process of Invention III can be used to make a materially different product, such as a drug implant.

Inventions II and III are independent and patentably distinct. Inventions are independent and patentably distinct if it can be shown that they are not disclosed as capable of use together and they have different modes of operation, different functions, or different effects (MPEP § 806.04, MPEP § 808.01). In the instant case, the different inventions have different mode of operation and different functions because Invention II requires the step of recovering desired biomolecules, while Invention III requires the step of forming covalent bonds between a substrate and a dialkyl maleic anhydride.

Art Unit: 1641

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for each group is not required for the other groups, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Gail Griffin on January 31, 2005 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made. Applicant is advised that a complete reply to this requirement must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
